

Chris Day Bio:

Chris Day is a senior research scientist at Purdue University, where he works on performance measures and other applications of data for managing highway transportation systems. Chris is a registered P.E. in the state of Indiana.